GRACIOUS

2 SAMUEL 1:17-27

While 1 Samuel focused on the first king of Israel, 2 Samuel focuses on David's reign as king. As we read through this book, we will learn much about David and why God said he was a man after His own heart. David was truly one of the great men of God in the Bible, illustrated by how often we read the statement, "but for the sake of my servant David." Long after David's death, God responded to events in the lives of people in light of His love for David. In this chapter, we have an example of what made him so great. His response to the death of Saul was amazing considering the depth of Saul's hatred toward David and how wickedly he had been treated by this man. Yet, when Saul died, David and his men mourned for him. David even wrote a song in honor of Saul and ordered that all the men of Judah be taught it. He refused to become bitter or hostile toward him. He not only felt this way personally, but was able to help his men develop these same qualities. Are you like David in this way? Mercy and compassion in the midst of opposition are godly characteristics. Are you demonstrating them? How can you begin to do so?

SACRIFICE

SAY WHAT?

List things people give to God that cost them nothing.

SO WHAT?

List what you have given to God that cost you something. Include what the cost really was.

NOW WHAT?

Is there something in your life that you feel God wants you to give, but you are hesitant because of what it will cost you? What are you going to do?

THEN WHAT?

In light of this passage, what personal commitment can you make?

If we were to examine the sacrifices you make in your relationship with God, what would we conclude? Does your life demonstrate that you give to God only when it is convenient? Or, does it demonstrate that you would not consider giving God anything less than that which costs you something? In this closing chapter, David made an important statement that ought to be the standard for our lives. He told Araunah that he would not accept the threshing floor from him without cost. He would not even consider offering to God that which "cost me nothing." If what is given to God did not cost anything, how could that be considered a sacrifice? It would be an insult to God. David wanted God to know how much he loved Him by how much he was willing to sacrifice. We often give our time to God for service or devotions, but only if there is nothing else to do. We give our money, but only after we have purchased what we want. If the cost of our time or money is great, we usually hold back. When you stop to really think about it, what have you really sacrificed for God? What might He want you to sacrifice?

GREAT LOVE

In this chapter, we learn who the greatest men in David's army were. As we read through this list, we can see how incredible these guys were. These men demonstrated great loyalty toward David and great courage in the face of danger. It includes three remarkable men willing to risk their lives just to get David a drink of water from the well in Bethlehem. They had to fight through the Philistine garrison just to get it! David was so moved by this demonstration of love that he could not even drink the water. In fact, he poured it out before the Lord as an offering. David's men loved him and were willing to give their lives to show him how much. Have you ever taken a risk to show someone how much you love them? God is far more worthy to be loved than a man like David, and yet we are so slow to show Him the kind of love demonstrated by the men in this chapter. When was the last time you did something for God that would show Him how much you love Him? Did it require any risk at all? With all He has done for us, how could we do anything less? How can you show Him how much you love Him today?

THEN WHAT?

In light of this passage, what personal commitment can you make?

In this chapter, we learn a second quality that made David great. Did you notice it while you read? How many decisions did David ask God about in today's reading? Number them in your Bible. David began his reign by inquiring of the Lord instead of relying on his own wisdom. He wanted God's direction in every area. First, he wanted confirmation that it was time to become king. He knew that God had promised it, but he wanted to wait for God's timing. Second, David asked God where He wanted him to set up his rule. He wanted to be in the right place, at the right time. Compare this response to that of Saul. He had gotten so far from knowing what God wanted that he had to consult a medium to receive guidance. As we read through this book, we will see that David continually sought God's direction. Too often, we move ahead of God. We ask Him to bless decisions that have already been made without concern for what He wants. Commit to follow David's example of seeking God's direction in the "when" and "where" of life. He already has a plan. Why not ask about it?

OBEDIENCE

Have you ever sensed that God wanted you to do something but you resisted His leading? In today's reading, we can learn a valuable lesson about resisting. Abner made it obvious, in verse 9, that he knew God had promised the kingdom to David. In spite of that knowledge, he wanted Ish-Bosheth to have the kingdom. When it became apparent that it was not going to work out as he planned, he switched to David's side in order to maintain his position and glory. Did his actions have consequences? Ultimately, he was murdered by Joab. What a contrast to David, who patiently waited for God's timing. In due time, David was not only given the kingdom, but was proven to be innocent of the alleged crime. In fact, God used these very circumstances to cause the people's loyalty to be with David. Choosing to do the will of God is always best. If we try to resist His will or attempt to force it to fit our purpose, we will eventually pay the price. Is God prompting you in an area of your life in which you need to simply obey and follow His direction the way David did? What will you choose?

Today we continue our look at David's hymn of praise to God. It is found here in Psalm 18 as well as 2 Samuel 22. These two works are almost identical to each other. Use the questions provided today to help you discover why David was so moved by what God did in his life. Also, just like yesterday, look for ways you can identify how God is working in your own life. Again today, either write out a Psalm of your own, or just spend some time in prayer thanking God for His work in your life. We must never forget all God has done for us!

The questions are also designed to help you identify how God is working in your own life. You may want to write your own Psalm when you are done. Do the ends ever justify the means? If doing something wrong will speed up what God desires to happen eventually, does that negate the sin? That is exactly what Recab and Baanah thought in today's reading. They knew that God had promised the kingdom to David. They also knew that God did not want Ish-Bosheth to be king. They concluded that murdering him, and avoiding the problems that may arise if he vied for power, was the solution. They were even convinced that they were somehow doing the will of God. David, however, did not see it the same way. He knew that murder was wrong regardless of the motive. The end never justifies the means. David again made a powerful statement to those around him. Although the motives may be good, or the outcome is what one believes to be right, God will never honor sin. David's response was immediate and just. The two men were executed. God will never require us to violate His Word to insure that His will is fulfilled. It may appear that His plan will not prevail, but we must never violate His standards to accomplish what we think is right.

MORE COMPROMISE

In today's reading, we see the first crack in David's armor that will ultimately lead to disaster in his life. It is found in verse 13. David took for himself concubines and wives. Now it is true that these marriages were probably part of international treaties or alliances, and not like marriages today. In those days, marriages were often used to seal treaties made between countries. The king who was entering into the agreement would give his daughter to seal it and make it binding. While this cultural tradition of political diplomacy accounted for many of David's marriages, it was still a violation of God's Word (1 Kings 11:1-3). With every occurrence of polygamy, David was violating the Word of God. Eventually, he would pay a heavy price for his sin in this area. We must never allow ourselves to compromise in any area of our lives. It may seem as if compromising in culturally accepted areas of life is a small thing, but if it violates God's standards, it will lead to disaster. Has God convicted you about an area of your life in which you have tolerated compromise? When are you going to deal with it?

In today's reading, we see one of God's greatest attributes on display. Did you identify it? Some 400 years earlier, Joshua made a treaty with the Gibeonites (Joshua 9:3-27). You will might remember that these people tricked Joshua into making a treaty with them, and he promised not to harm them. For an unknown reason, Saul had them killed. Our Bibles do not have a record of the reason he killed them. It could have been that Saul, in his zeal to rid the land of heathens, simply forgot to honor this commitment. God, however, did not forget. It had been over 400 years since the treaty was made and the original people involved were long gone. However, God still held them to the commitment and punished them for breaking this oath. Commitments are obviously very important to God. If you made a commitment, God will remember. He will keep you accountable for that commitment and will respond if you fail to follow through with the oath you made. We must not make decisions lightly. God will not forget what we commit to do.

CONFRONTING SIN

2 SAMUEL 20:8-26

Yesterday, we saw one of David's strengths. Today, we see one of his greatest weaknesses surface again. It is David's refusal to confront and correct the sin of others. David failed to correct Joab's sin just like he did with Absalom. In fact, this is the third time he has neglected to respond correctly to blatant sin. Joab killed Abner and David chose to ignore it. While he mourned for Abner and made it perfectly clear to the nation that he did not approve, Joab did not suffer any consequences. Joab disobeyed David's orders regarding Absalom, and David did not take action. The fact that he appointed Amasa may have been a response to what Joab did, but he did not communicate that to Joab, and this action only seemed to provoke Joab more. Even after Joab killed Amasa, David was silent. David had a huge problem on his hands and still did not deal with it. He actually restored Joab to his former position. We often think that it is a demonstration of love to accept people's sin and not confront it. However, true love always seeks to correct sin, not condone it. Could there be someone you need to help today?

SAY WHAT?

Why do you think it is difficult to confront and deal with people's sin?

2 SAMUEL 6:1-11

Why was David angry in this chapter? Was he angry because God had responded with such force, or was he angry at himself for not being more careful? Whatever his reason, we do know that David's zeal and passion for God, though admirable, was not guided by careful obedience to the Word of God. Consequently, a man died. A valuable lesson is here for us to learn. God had clearly stated that any time the ark was to be moved, it was to be carried by the Sons of Kohath. It was also not to be placed on a cart drawn by animals, but was to be carried using the prescribed poles (Ex 25:12-15). Unfortunately for Uzzah, they did not follow the instructions concerning the ark, and, as a result, he violated them by touching it. We live in a world in which people want their passion and enthusiasm for God to have greater value than obedience to the Word of God. Our worship of God, and the ways we express praise, must always conform to Scripture. God's Word must always control our behavior. We cannot force Scripture to conform to our behavior. Obedience, not sincerity, must determine what we do. Does it for you?

MOTIVATION

What motivated David's prayer life? As we look closely at the prayer in today's reading, we find it clearly stated. In fact, it is a good way to determine the motives of our own prayer lives. First, we find that David was very aware of how undeserving he was of the blessing of God in his life. He knew that his kingdom was a gift from God, not a result of his strength or wisdom. In verse 25, David asked God to fulfill the promises He had made to him. Why? According to verse 26, it was so that God's name would be magnified forever. His request was not made because of his desire for personal glory or a life of comfort. It was motivated by his love for God and a desire to bring honor and glory to His name. He wanted God to be admired by the nations. Look at your prayer list and examine your motives for each request. Are you praying so that you will be admired, so that you will be comfortable? Does your motive reflect only what is best for you? God's glory should be our only motivation. Is that what your list reveals? How do the items on your list need to change?

2 SAMUEL 19:16-43

What three things did David do when he returned to Jerusalem? What do they tell us about him? The first thing he did was demonstrate mercy to someone who wronged him. He could have easily punished Shimei for cursing him when he left Jerusalem, but he entrusted vindication to the Lord. Secondly, he restored Mephibosheth to his position. You may remember that Ziba, the servant, had deceived David into believing that Mephibosheth had deserted him. David could have assumed he was deliberately hurt and responded to his pain based on his assumption. Instead, he found out what had taken place and treated Saul's grandson with compassion. And finally, he rewarded Barzillai for his faithful support during his absence. David understood how much this man risked and sacrificed by giving him supplies during Absalom's reign. These three events reveal to us how compassionate David was. He was fair and just in his dealings with people. He did not react maliciously out of hurt or a desire for vindication for the wrong done to him. He was gracious and kind. Are you like this?

Today, we see more consequences of David's wrong choices--choices that will one day bring grief and can't be changed. God brought victory for David. His rebellious son died and David was filled with grief. He became focused on his own loss and had no thought for his men or the fact that God's intervention was just. David's grief and sorrow were an indication of how much he loved his son, but unfortunately for Absalom, that love did not motivate him to be the kind of father he should have been. It was too late to demonstrate his love to his son, and too late to build the kind of relationship he should have had with Absalom. It may be that David's excessive sorrow was because he knew he had failed in many ways as a father. His choices had a major affect on the emotional and physical lives of his children. Do you ever consider the affect your decisions will have on your relationship with your family? Choices you make today will impact those relationships. Have you considered the consequences? Right choices today will avoid consequences tomorrow!

GOD GAVE

As David's kingdom began to expand, a common theme emerged. It is a phrase found in verses 6 & 14. It is a phrase that we will often see as we read through this book. David was expanding his kingdom in all directions. In the west, he defeated the Philistines. In the east, he defeated Moab. In the south, the Amalekites were subdued. In the north, he took control of Hadadezer and what he ruled. It was the hand of God that worked to bring about the expansion of the kingdom of David. David knew that it was God who moved the hearts of the people to embrace him as king. He transformed a lowly shepherd into the ruler of a nation. And, it was the hand of God that gave him great victory and increased his borders. We often look at our successes and feel great pride in all "we" have done. We fail to realize that it is God who has worked in our lives to accomplish great things. It is God who gives us success. Acknowledging God's work in our lives prevents pride from creeping in. God is at work, and His will is being accomplished. Remember to acknowledge that.

PSALM 60

Today's reading is a Psalm believed to be written as a result of the events we read about yesterday in chapter 8. While David and the majority of his army were at war in the north, a neighboring enemy successfully attacked the southern part of Judah. This Psalm expresses the emotion of an event in which it seemed as if God had abandoned Israel. It contains a pattern of thought that we can use when faced with difficult and confusing situations. When all seems to be going well and then the world falls apart, we find ourselves in the same situation that people of faith have for generations. In verses 1-5, we see feelings of abandonment. The circumstances seemed to indicate that God had forgotten them. Then, we are reminded that God is in total control of every event in our lives. He has not left us. The truth of that conviction leads us to have confidence in God's sovereignty. Although it may seem as if God has abandoned us, He never will. Do you find yourself in a situation in which you need to be reminded of the sovereignty of God? Write out part of this Psalm to remind you.

HOPELESS

Have you ever felt like the situation you were in was totally hopeless? Did it seem as if there was no solution and disaster was looming on the horizon? In this chapter, we find David is just such a situation. We can learn so much from seeing David's problems up close and watching how he dealt with them. David left Jerusalem, and it appeared as if his defeat was sure. In the meantime, Absalom was trying to determine the best course of action. He received two opposing pieces of advice. One was to pursue David immediately and the other was to wait. His success would be determined by the advice he followed. Fortunately for David, he followed the wrong one. Why do you suppose he made a poor choice? According to verse 14, it was because God had a plan. God would defeat Absalom and give the kingdom back to David. We sometimes forget that God is always in control of everything. He alone can control what people see, think, or perceive. He has total control over our lives and the choices that affect us. Take comfort in that today.

FALSE ACCUSATIONS

While it is not clearly stated, many believe this Psalm was written in relationship to the events you read about yesterday. It was a plea from David, asking that God vindicate him from the accusations and actions taken against him. David begins by expressing his anxiety about the events he was facing. He described his enemies as a lion, ready to tear him to pieces. He then asked God to reveal any sin in his life. Although he did not claim to be perfect, he felt that he was innocent of any wrongdoing in this instance. Then, he stated his case before God. He asked not only for vindication, but also that God would repay those who falsely accused him. The Psalm ends with David recommitting the events of his life to the control of God. David did not make any demands, but resumed singing praise to God and trusting His righteousness. What a great example to us of how to respond when we are attacked and falsely accused. Do you need to take these steps today?

SECURITY

In today's reading, we see another positive characteristic of David. When we consider the culture of the day, David's actions become even more amazing. Remember, David had formed a significant relationship with Saul's son Jonathan. Because David loved Jonathan, he wanted to help his children in any way that he could. He searched and found Jonathan's one remaining son, Mephibosheth. Upon locating him, David gave him the land that had once belonged to Saul, and invited him to eat at his table. David was gracious to Mephibosheth and was not threatened by who he was. Mephibosheth had a rightful claim to the throne and could have posed a danger to David's reign. In that society, a new king would routinely kill anyone who had claim to the throne in order to secure his kingdom. David's behavior illustrates that his security was in God, and he felt no need to protect what God had given him. In the same way, we do not need to aggressively hang on to what God has given to us. Whether it's a spot on a team, a relationship, a job, or our standing in a group, we must find our security in God and not ourselves.

Did you ever find yourself facing what appeared to be insurmountable odds? Was it a situation in which you felt there was no hope? In this passage, we find Joab in that very predicament. His response, in verse 12, can encourage us to follow his example. The army was hemmed in by the enemy in front and behind. The Ammonite army was ready at the city gate, and the Arameans were encamped in the fields around the city. Joab opted to divide his forces and deal with both groups of enemy soldiers at the same time. He urged his troops to be strong and have confidence in the fact that God determines the outcome of the battle, not their military might or military knowledge. Joab asked his men to trust God's ability to accomplish what was good in His sight. As the troops advanced, God gave them victory. Likewise, when we face difficult circumstances, we must not despair or resign ourselves to defeat. God provides the victory and our confidence must lie in Him. We must trust God, knowing His mighty power will accomplish what is good. While we do not know the outcome, we know it will be His perfect will.

Did you notice how this chapter demonstrates many principles regarding sin? For example, the principle that although we sin, we can repent. With our repentance comes learning and growth from the mistakes we have made. We also see that consequences will still follow. David had to leave his throne and find safety. On his way, a distant relative of Saul's cursed him. Instead of reacting like he did with Nabal, he endured it with grace and left it with God. He had learned to control his anger when insulted. That lesson was easier to learn than the next example, which illustrates the consequences for his sin. The chapter closes with Absalom shamelessly sleeping with David's concubines. His brazen behavior demonstrated to the public that he was claiming the throne for himself. This action fulfilled the judgement declared by Nathan to David for his sin with Bathsheba. While sin can be confessed and forgiven, and lessons learned, we cannot control the painful consequences of sin in our lives and the lives of others. Sin will take you farther than you ever intend to go.

IMPORTANCE OF THEOLOGY

How can we have assurance in the midst of overwhelming adversity? This Psalm, written on the occasion of David's difficulty with Absalom, gives us some insights. David, in one of his darkest moments, went back to a conviction of truth. He deliberately chose to find confidence in his theology. He reminded himself that God was aware of his circumstances. David knew that when he cried, God heard him. God knew exactly what he was going through. David also reflected on God's ability to sustain him. God not only knew and cared about those circumstances, but provided the strength for him to persevere in the midst of them. David then focused on God's ability to defend him. God knew what was going on, helped him persevere, and protected him from any evil. This Psalm contains an excellent pattern for us to follow when we face difficult circumstances. We must not forget that God knows, He cares, and He strengthens and protects. Is there a circumstance in your life in which you should remind yourself of these things? Why not write them down and post them where you can see them.

SIN'S PROGRESSION

As you read this passage about David's sin, did you see the progression of his fall? It is a good lesson to learn so that we can avoid falling into sin ourselves. Step one, we see that David had become lazy. Verse one tells us that David was home, instead of at war, where a king should have been. He sent Joab in his place. He was lazy when he should have been working. Step two, we see that he became less cautious and moved away from protection. David saw Bathsheba, and he sent someone to find out who she was, instead of walking away. Step three, David put himself in a position to commit sin by sending messengers to get Bathsheba. If he had not gotten more information about her and simply walked away, he could have avoided sin. He deliberately chose to give in to his lust and sleep with a married woman. As you examine your life, do you find that you are lazy, resulting in avoidable temptation? Have you become less cautious in avoiding temptation? Are you in a position to sin? What can you do to avoid sin?

HIDDEN

In verse 27 of yesterday's passage, there was an important phrase. Did you catch it? We learn that while David may have felt his sin was unnoticed, God had seen it, and He was not pleased with the choices he made. God sent Nathan to rebuke David for his sin. In today's reading, we learn two more facts about sin. One, God always deals with sin. We may think we have gotten away with it, but God will respond. Second, sin always has consequences. Nathan told David a story about sheep. If what he said was an actual incident, the law would have required him to make 4-fold restitution. David would see this consequence unfold during his lifetime, as three of his own sons died, and his fourth son died shortly after his death. His sons by Bathsheba all died. There was also great emotional trauma in the lives of his family. David paid a heavy price for a brief moment of pleasure. Sin will always find you out, and it will always have consequences. We can't get away with sin. Is there a hidden sin you need to confess? Today would be a good day to do so!

Did David really believe that God had total control over his life? As we read through this chapter, the assumption can easily be made that David did. Think about it. Absalom's rebellion spilled out, and his plot was hatched. Rather than fight it, David was willing to submit himself to the plan of God and did not manipulate what he felt God was doing. He concluded that if God no longer wanted him to be king, he would live with that decision. In verse 25 and 26, David expressed his faith to Zadok. The Levites brought the ark of God out of the city to be a comfort, but David sent it back. He knew that if God wanted him to rule as the king, He would put him back on the throne. But if not, David was willing to submit to that as well. David wanted the plan of God to unfold in his life. Do you demonstrate the same kind of faith in your life? Do you allow God to reveal His plan for your life and then submit to it? Or, do you resist what He is doing? Can you trust Him enough to allow someone else to take a position you hold? It takes great confidence to trust that His way is always best even if His plan is not yours. Do you need to apply this to a specific situation today?

TOLERANT

Have you ever felt as if your parents were too hard on you? Do you ever feel they make a big deal out of something really minor? There are times that we would like for our parents to be more tolerant and permissive but, in this passage, we see what can happen to kids whose parents are tolerant and passive. We read yesterday that David neglected to punish Ammon for his sin with Tamar. Likewise, Absalom did not suffer any kind of consequences for killing Amnon. In this chapter, David brought Absalom back home, but refused to meet with him or even speak to him. It must have been during these times that Absalom's heart grew more rebellious toward God and his father. How different it might have been had David been less permissive or tolerant of his children's behavior. It is a remarkable kid who understands how great it is to have parents who are involved in what goes on in his life and who are willing to come down hard on sinful behavior. To have that kind of parent is a gift from God. Do you appreciate it? They are preventing you from following Absalom's path. Why not thank them today?

SAY WHAT?

What kind of response would have been appropriate for David to have in his children's lives?

SO WHAT?

In what ways have your parents' responses helped you in the past?

NOW WHAT?

What reason do you think God had for giving you the parents He did?

THEN WHAT?

In light of this passage, what personal commitment can you make?

PSALM 51

TRUE REPENTANCE

Today and tomorrow, we will be reading two Psalms written by David after his sin with Bathsheba. While it is true that David initially tried to cover up his sin, after being confronted by Nathan, he demonstrated true repentance. Chapter 11 taught us how to avoid sin and chapter 12 taught us that if we do not avoid sin, we will be punished. These two Psalms demonstrate that a heart filled with true sorrow and repentance will find the forgiveness and grace of God. Both of these Psalms give us a pattern for true repentance that we can follow. First, a plea for forgiveness was made. Second, although many were hurt when he sinned, the ultimate violation was against God, and David recognized that. Third, a longing to be cleansed followed. The blame rested only on himself, and David desired spiritual restoration. Fourth, a commitment to renewed service was made. Guilt over his failure didn't paralyze him, but it motivated him to allow God to continue to use him. Finally, God's healing was sought not only for himself, but for the nation. Do you need to repent and seek forgiveness for sin as David did? Write down these steps to use yourself or to help others who need to repent.

STEPS TO REPENTANCE

According to Bible scholars, Psalm 51 was written by David in the midst of his guilt and resulting repentance because of his sin with Bathsheba. Psalm 32 is believed to have been written after David wrote Psalm 51. The perspective is different because it is more of a reflective look at what he learned from his sin. He shares two important conclusions about the sin he committed. The first conclusion was to remember what he learned. He remembered what it was like when he tried to hide his sin. There was guilt and pain in his soul from unconfessed sin. The hand of God was heavy on his life and nothing seemed good. He remembered what it was like when he finally went to God and was forgiven. The second conclusion was to go to God immediately. His love and forgiveness will overwhelm us. David instructs us not to resist God's prompting when there is sin that needs to be confessed. David confirms that a repentant man will find God's forgiveness. Do you need to take this to heart? Does someone you know need this forgiveness?

OUR EXAMPLE

Did you notice that there are similarities between Absalom's behavior in this passage and David's in chapter 11? Both men used wine to get their victims drunk. Both men had someone else do the actual killing for them. Both men plotted in order to gain something—David wanted Bathsheba, and Absalom wanted the death of his rival to the throne. Could Absalom have been following David's example of dealing with his problems? This passage reveals to us that David set a lousy example as a father for his children, and then made no attempt to resolve the situation as it unfolded. When David heard of Amnon's sin, he should have punished him. Instead, he did nothing. When Absalom killed Amnon, he should have intervened, but again, did nothing. As a result, the sin and its consequences just continued on in his family. His poor example, and lack of response to the situation, resulted in shattered lives. Often, we do not stop to think of the impact our behavior can have on those watching. We must not only be a good example, but also help others avoid repeating our sin. Is your life like David's in some areas? What kind of example are you setting?
